If you are submitting a request to add records in Web of Science, please first make sure the content is within coverage.

This form is for Data Change and Missing Article/Issue requests only. Any other types of queries should be submitted through the SUBMIT A QUESTION TO THE TECHNICAL SUPPORT TEAM section on the Technical Support page.

Each journal selected for Web of Science has an authority file that details the sections and article types that are included and excluded for coverage.

The following journal items typically are excluded from indexing:

- Issue highlights, section descriptions, and editorial statements
- Author indexes, subject indexes, and annual indexes
- Members of an editorial board and/or changes in board membership or journal editorship
- Acknowledgements, announcements and subscriptions
- News blurbs, fillers, trade news, society news
- Call for papers
- Thesis abstracts
- Law decisions

The following journal items might be included in Web of Science:

- Editor's notes (depending on the content)
- Book reviews (processed for journals included in ESCI, AHCI and SSCI, but not usually for journals in SCIE)
- Art exhibits; scripts; poetry; reviews of film, music, recordings, theatre, TV, radio, video, dance, and fiction (processed only in journals included in ESCI and AHCI)

Our suggestion to improve our service for quick resolution: In future, could you please provide your list of multiple data change requests or corrections in a single data change case request (you can use our excel template to listing the UT's/DOI of record that need to be updated with change details in attachment) rather than multiple data change cases for each request

We believe the above suggestion would be an easier & faster option to resolve your query. Also, time-saving for you as it will avoid time spend for raising multiple cases & to maintain the inventory of cases raised.
